“ Your life was never easy love, and you tried, you didn't have anyone to guide you and the ones that could have failed you. I pray God holds you in his arms and gives you comfort as no one on earth was fully able of doing. I loved your mother and I loved you and your brother. Time and circumstances (and other people) led you astray, and you could never get back. You were loved child, I just wish you knew how much.
