December 21, 1957 - March 19, 2025

Charles (Shorty) Conover, Sr., born, December 21, 1957 passed on March 19, 2025. He joined the love of his life and Queen, Jeannie Conover, in the afterlife. He continued to live after her passing, but everyone saw his spark for life fade. No one loved a spouse as completely as Shorty. Although, as King of the Fat Farm in Tifton. Shorty lived a life filled with many family gatherings and joyful times. He loved to fix things and created a whole range of interesting modifications to everyday items. Canopies for his mowers and additions to yard implements beyond most people's imagination. His creations were beautiful and intriguing, and many family members still refer to remarkable and unusual changes to items as being Shorty-fied. He helped to make the lives of generations in his family fun and exciting. Think... pulling all kinds of items behind four wheelers, cars, trucks, and motorcycles to playing sports, cards, and games to the delight and possible personal injury for the participants. He is survived by two children, Jessica Rose Genabe (Mark) and Charles (Chuck) Conover, Jr., one beautiful granddaughter, Savannah Genabe, two sisters, Faye Gordon and Kaye Barger, and one brother, Danny Conover. He lived the end of his life with the generous Horne family, Jeff and Becky. He was preceded in death by a sister, Linda Slaymaker and of course Queen of The Fat Farm, his bride, Jeannie.
